clamation Will Be Included

The seventh annual Kentucky rural school tournament, consisting of contests in music, scholarships, and declamation, under the auspices of the extension department of the university, will open at 10 a. m. today in Memorial hall. The program will extend throughout today and Saturday, and more than 900 students are expected from 40 counties throughout the state.

The counties winning the most points in the various contests will be given loving cups, the cup for athletics presented jointly by the state Y. W. C. A. and the university. Pupils who are awarded first honors in each of the events will be presented gold pins.

The program in the afternoon will include declamatory events for boys and girls. The entrants will be divided into four sections for preliminaries starting at 3 o'clock in Memorial hall, the lecture room of McVey hall, the auditorium of the training school and the auditorium of Frazee hall. The finals in declamation for boys and girls will be held in the auditorium of the training school at 7:30 p. m.

At 12:45 o'clock all representatives and their chaperones will be guests for luncheon in the training school cafeteria. At 1:45 o'clock general meeting will be held in the auditorium of the training school. Achievement tests will be conducted at 2 o'clock in the training school building and Frazee hall under the direction of Prof. C. C. Ross.

A special feature of the program will be a demonstration of the Fullerton Method by Prof. James E. Van Peursem of Eastern State Teachers college. Professor Van Peursem will take a group of pupils and with the aid of the phonograph teach them a new song. The counties with glee club entries are: Anderson, Boone, Fayette, Harrison, Henry, Kenton, Lewis, McCracken, Mercer, Nicholas, Pendleton, Powell, Shelby, Scott, and Woodford.

The tournament will begin this morning at 10 o'clock with the appearance of glee clubs from the elementary schools of 15 counties. Miss Mildred Lewis will preside and Mrs. Charles E. Skinner, Mrs. Foster Krake and Miss Josephine Parker will serve as judges. A loving cup will be awarded to the county presenting the best group of singers.

At 8:00 a. m. Saturday, on Stoll field, a field meet will open with the high jump. Other events scheduled are the standing broad jump, the girls' and boys' baseball throw, the boys' running broad jump, the boys' and girls' 50, 100, and 150 yard dashes, boys' and girls' relays, and running and catching contests.

Luncheon will be served in the Training school cafeteria at 11:30 o'clock Saturday, and at 12:00 o'clock the trophies will be awarded at Stoll field. In 1930 Harrison county won the trophy for general efficiency in scholarship and athletics combined. Henderson county won the cup given by the university and State Y. W. C. A. for efficiency in scholarship.

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, dean of the Graduate School, spoke over WLW in Cincinnati Tuesday in the first of a series of four addresses on the subject of "Kentucky." The program is being made a part of the program of the Ohio School of the Air and is sponsored by the Kentucky Progress commission.

The other speakers to follow in the series during the next three weeks are Governor F. D. Sampson, Professor James Richmond, newly elected superintendent of public instruction, and Governor-elect Ruby Laffoon.

KITTENS TO MEET
WESTERN ELEVEN
HERE SATURDAYCoach Miller Thinks Freshman Team May Be DefeatedGREENIES HAVE WON
TWO OF THREE TILTSSeason is Only Half Over for First Year Gridiron
Players

By DELMAR ADAMS

A band of snarling Kittens will entertain an even more ferocious band of youngsters from Western Normal at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon on Stoll field.

Coach Miller, speaking of the prospects, said, "The Kittens will take a beating if they don't put more energy into their playing and play a better game than they have shown so far this season." If statistics mean anything, then the charges of Coach Pribble and Coach Miller are in for a licking for Vanderbilt whipped the Kentucky first year men 13-0, and Western walked the Vanderbilt frosh by a 7-0 count.

The Kittens have been driven at a top pace all the week in preparation for this big game, and the boys look much better than they did when they played their last game. Bilbro still is nursing a sore knee, and Miller, Jean, and Barney are not in the pink of condition, due to the rough treatment received at the hands of the Big Blue, who have been scrimmaging against the Vanderbilt ones all week. Today the freshmen are alone on Stoll field and will concentrate their efforts on plays for their engagement tomorrow. The varsity has caused a depletion of the first year squad and only 30 odd of the youthful aspirants remain with which the varsity may toy.

With three games behind and with two victories out of the three only this game and the embroglio with the Tennessee Rats remain on the yearling's schedule. Two more victories would place this year's yearling squad on a par with great yearling crews of the past.

The yearling line is very promising and Coach Miller who is tutoring the green backfield has a nice crop of green clad ball-toters from which to select his starting lineup. There are two men for every position in the backfield who are equally as good with the exception of the fullback post, where Jack Jean reigns supreme.

Very little is known of the strength of the visiting frosh aggregate, but their line is said to average right around the 200 pound mark, while their backfield is faster than the Vanderbilt Rat backs and the aforesaid Rats took the Kittens for a ride to the tune of 13-0, but the Kittens may have a chance to whip the frosh from the West in spite of adverse odds.

The following men will start the fray against the red and black frosh Saturday: ends, Rupert and Glass; tackles, Riley, Fish or Crosby; guards, Darnaby and Omer; center, Mountjoy; quarterback, Saunders or Barney; halfback, Bilbro, Miller, Cottrell or Sparks; fullback, Jean.

ARMISTICE DAY
PROGRAM GIVENR. O. T. C. Regiment and University Band Have Part in Annual Memorial Services at U. K.

Observing Armistice day, Wednesday, cadets of the university R. O. T. C. regiment paraded through the Band in Dixie' paraded through the main streets of Lexington. Following the one minute silence introduced at 11 a. m. by the sounding of Taps in memory of those who were killed during the late World War, the assembled organizations, under the leadership of General George B. Duncan, began their march.

On reaching the reviewing stand, located on Main street in front of the courthouse, General Duncan fell out of the procession and took his place beside Pres. Frank L. McVey to review the marching column. The route followed by the marchers was Euclid avenue to Rose street; Rose street to Main; Main to Broadway; Broadway to Maxwell; Maxwell to Limestone, and Limestone to the campus. Cadets were dismissed upon reaching the campus.

The university R. O. T. C. regiment was headed by Major O. R. Meredith and the staff of the department of military science and tactics. The first battalion was headed by Cadet-Major Weisman, with Company E forming the color guard. The second battalion was under the command of Cadet-Major Eades.

The many interesting organizations made the occasion a colorful one. They were as follows: the university band, R. O. T. C., Lexington and Frankfort drum and bugle corps, veterans of the World War, officers of the United States army, and Colonel Dick Redd.

Paying Women
Are Wanted by University MenUndergraduates Vote on Local Social and Financial Questions

By DAUGHERTY and ADAMS

Ninety-eight per cent of the men enrolled at the university are in favor of women's sharing 50-50 in the expenses of dates, representative balloting on the question revealed.

Of 150 votes cast by men students, 146 affirmed the attitude that women should stand for half of the expenditures necessitated by an evening of revelry. Three voted against such a departure from traditional procedure, while one voter was divided among himself and voted yes and no.

Too few girls voted to give a representative balloting of their aggregate wishes on the subject. Of the seven voting, three favored the 50-50 plan, and four were unmitigatedly against it.

The question naturally arises as to how the 50-50 plan would work in those instances where two men escort one girl, or where two girls are escorted by one man, in the process of finding entertainment.

More than half of the men voting emphasized their whole-heartedness in the move for a change by the addition of a single word, making their votes read "Hell yes." (These votes were tabulated as a value of one, despite the extra forcefulness of their content.)

A number of enthusiastic voters in their eagerness to let the world know of their ideas signed their names and then forgot to indicate which way they were voting.

A suffragist signing his name as Derek Smythefield wrote, "Let them pay all." Another said that he was for 50-15, rather than for a 50-50 basis.

But perhaps the greatest one blow of all was struck for the girl's retaining their nickels by one signing her name "Cleopatra" to a letter which she requested be published. Mile. Cleopatra says:

"I am a very, very poor little girl. I like to go out like other girls do. I am working my way through school. In all fairness, this would deprive me of my only amusement. My vote is 'NO', not only for myself but for other girls who are in the same predicament."

(Signed) Cleopatra

Now, as Johnson the sports scribe suggests, just what is Cleo, the working girl, doing to work her way through school?

ARE WE SPORTSMEN?

The Kernel already has pointed out that there will be a time and a place to discuss the ability of Coach Harry Gamage. That time certainly is not in the midst of a hard football season, nor is the place the columns of the Courier-Journal. We believe that all persons who are truly interested in the success of the Kentucky football team will do everything in their power to maintain a spirit of harmony and cooperation between the team, the coaching staff, and the student body. Without this spirit little can be accomplished by any gridiron aggregation.

The present situation naturally is one which cannot but elicit a great deal of comment, but it is our opinion that this comment could be reserved until after the game with Florida in December. Whether or not the resolutions in support of Coach Gamage, which were signed by members of the Wildcat squad, are an accurate index to their opinions on the matter The Kernel does not intend to argue at present. If we must insist upon continuing the present controversy, can we not at least postpone it until the season is terminated?

A sportsman would do nothing which would in any way impair the chances of victory of a team which he is supporting. Is it not more important that the Wildcats win the remainder of their games, than that the ability of Coach Gamage is now an exceedingly controversial matter?

A NORTHERN INVESTIGATOR

Seldom does The Kernel comment editorially upon activities which in no way are related to the University of Kentucky. Theodore Dreiser, however, annoys us tremendously. So acute is this annoyance that we take this exception.

We believe that it would have been a laudable move on the part of Kentucky newspapers if they had printed not one line concerning Mr. Dreiser or his activities in Kentucky. This, we feel confident, would have done more than anything else to make the Northern gentleman's stay in our state a most unhappy one. News, nevertheless, is news, whether it is made by an undesirable Northerner or a Negro cotton picker in the South.

The same situation which Mr. Dreiser came to investigate in Kentucky has existed frequently in the North. But we, as Kentuckians, are ordered to "protect" an outsider when he comes into our state on a personal publicity tour.

Since his recent investigation was so satisfactory we might suggest to Mr. Dreiser that he journey to other countries in a similar "cause". English courtesy would assure him of ample newspaper comment if he were to investigate the financial situation in England, or the economic situation in India.

INADEQUATE SIDELINE CLEARANCE ON STOLL FIELD

The University of Kentucky lost another football game Saturday, and incidentally, a member of the team lost three teeth.

Recalling the scope of student and alumni comments following the contest—widespread, vituperative, and lamentable with regard to its outcome; negligible, mildly humorous with regard to the teeth—The Kernel feels pretty-minded, even disloyal, in mentioning the player's loss. Nevertheless, Duke's victory over Kentucky may or may not have been averted—no one will ever know, but the player's injury could have been prevented.

Metal posts, supporting cables designed to keep spectators from encroaching on the gridiron, are located at intervals along the sidelines of Stoll field. In the second quarter of the game Saturday a Kentucky man, making a tackle, apparently collided with one of these supports. Three of his teeth were broken off and later, had to be extracted.

We say apparently collided with one of the supports advisedly, for the player actually suffered his injury not from collision with a cable support but from falling upon a metal yardage marker. Because of this further discussion the incident may lack force, but The Kernel does not think so. The student's injury occurred in the immediate vicinity of the side poles—close enough to mislead spectators—and they might easily have been the cause.

During the course of Saturday's game another player crashed into a pole and, by merest chance, escaped serious injury. These collisions have occurred frequently in other games.

University teams have met defeat before; they will meet them again. Each time her sons suffer discouragement Kentucky suffers with them—but only in a troubled and transient, rather impersonal, sort of way. A personal disfigurement is a grief to be borne always by the victim.

Football rules revised in 1928 allow a ten-yard setback of goal posts to avoid the dangers of players colliding with them. Football enthusiasts welcomed the sensible change in rules. Today on Stoll field there is an inadequate protective clearance along the sidelines.

A dangerous condition exists which should be eliminated. Side-line poles should be set back farther, in order that the participating gridirers may be more adequately protected.

Communications

HELP CENTRE, DANVILLE AND THE "SECRET THREE"

Editor, The Kentucky Kernel
Dear Sir:

A recent issue of the Danville Daily Advocate carried a story which told of a "Secret Three" who will keep a careful watch on all Danvillians who attend the Tennessee-Kentucky game at Lexington on Thanksgiving instead of following the Colonels to Chattanooga. It is the belief of the newspaper that it will be just as well to know who are the real supporters of the Gold and White, a team with a "glorious record".

I believe that it would be wise for a "Three", not necessarily secret, to be formed at the University of Kentucky. The first duty of this organization would be to communicate with the "Secret Three" of Danville and to offer its cooperation in carrying out the program which the original group has put forth. It might even be possible to enlist the services of the police departments of Lexington and Danville. By this method it would be possible to keep any Danvillian with a "Lexington Look" in his eye from leaving the city on Thanksgiving and it would be possible, if the police force of the little town could not entirely handle the situation, to have the gentlemen of law and order here forbid any Boyle county car to enter the city.

I believe such an arrangement would do more than anything else to promote a sadly needed harmony between the two schools, and I feel sure that it would be appreciated by those of our Danville friends who are supporting a progressive and constructive program for Old Centre.

Hoping that you may see fit to give my argument editorial support I remain,

Respectfully,
(Signed) A CONSTRUCTIONIST

POETRY

Poetry is the capture of a picture, a song
Or a flair, in a deliberate prism of words.

Poetry is a pack-sack of invisible keepsakes.

Poetry is the journal of a sea animal
Living on land, vinting to fly the air.

Poetry is a projection across the silence of Cadences arranged to break that
Silence with definite intentions
Of inches, syllables, wave lengths.
—CARL SANDBURG

WOMAN

A woman's worth is never Quite realized or known.
No matter how she may deserve
A seat upon the throne.

'Till when she's on a visit
And, at despair's dark brink,
Her husband stands and contemplates

The dishes in the sink.

AUTUMN BECKONS

Away, away poor soul within.
The leaves have all turned brown.
Cry, cry and let the din
Of life, your pleadings, drown.

Flee, flee poor heart of mine,
Take wings and soar away.
Fly, fly to some far-off clime;
There is sadness here today.

Sink, sink poor all of me
Into the whirlpool of a gust;
Drop, drop this foolish glee
And, like the leaves, crumple into dust.
—JAMES R. MINER

Jest Among Us

The football team has been having so much bad luck lately that it's going to change its name from Wildcats to Black Cats.

Thanks to the weather man, the drill Wednesday was all wet.

And had you noticed that Cupid does not seem to be suffering from the depression at all around Lexington.

It's a rough road to education—especially those last two blocks of Rose street.

Bridge seems to be the most popular intramural sport around the fraternity houses now.

PEPY'S DIARY

Tuesday: I did arise and send a freshman to get me a fresh Kernel, although not wrapped in cellophane. I did see many pals and palletes on my stroll to class and all did seem very light-minded. A very good example of this case were NELL MONTGOMERY and WARREN DENNISTON. I did see SPUD SPAULDING as he drove to school in his new coupe. I did pass The Kernel office and see LARRY HERRON and COLEMAN SMITH, who were working hard. I did stop to gossip with LOUISE McDONALD, the irresponsible one, about the lack of scandal on the campus. She did say that she would create it herself if necessary. I did see WILLIE ARDERY and EUGENIE BECK who did seem much interested in their conversation. They did claim to be just good pals. I did do the usual thing and did join my pals in the DEN OF ENIGMITY. I did see CAROLYN RAY whose gigantic personality did draw he gents her way. I did like to give free advertisements to the needy. I did see MARY JO ARMSTRONG, my cut-throat pal, with DICK RICHARDS. I did think that DICK ARMS did the name of MARY (JO) ARMSTRONG.

I did see GEORGE KAY and DOPEY WADDLE at the KAPPA house in the afternoon. WADDY did seem much embarrassed when more people did come. JACQ ROBEY was there looking for anyone who would tell him, but he did leave with a sad look. I did see MALINDA BUSH and KATHERINE GRAVES who were working out the policies of the chapter. I did visit the Tri-delt house where everyone squirrels around and where there is a general sphere of hilarity. I did hope the girls would appreciate this free advertisement, for the gents did like girls that were gay and full of spirit in them days.

I did see CHIEF OMEGAS taking their after dinner stroll in front of the SAE house in hope that they might be able to catch the affections of the mighty SIG ALPHIS. I did see BRAD STEVENSON pay a visit to this house. Then I did see him talking to CARLEEN GRANT. I sez, sez I, that SUSAN had better watch her little boy for the CHIEF OMEGAS have power and it was well to love close at home.

Wednesday: I did see OTTIE PIE and DRUMMY PIE holding hands on the campus, and methought that there was a time and place for everything. I did hear that DUTCH KREUTER did not know just how much power he had over women for he did not have to use all of it to conquer a fair lassie. I did see BOB PHILLIPPI, the sophisticated TRANSY STUDENT, with SERLEDA BISIOPI in the DEN OF ENIGMITY, which was crowded for the parade was on. I did notice that WHIFFLING had caught the eye of the weaker sex for I did notice that THEO TEBBS and her crowd were engaging in a game. I did see MILLY NELSON and SHELBY COFFEE who have been neglected in the past issues. I did congratulate the blond lady on conquering the gentleman's affections after a bitter battle with BOARD.

Thursday: I did hear that ALICE BRUNER was to be married and I did offer her congratulations. I did see A. LEWIS, CHRIS JOHNSON, and I did think that no good would come of that conversation. I did notice SAM LANGFITT as he brought smiles from the scorn-beaten brows of some of the damsels. I did think that his technique was good.

ROAMIN' THE RIALTO

with ROAMIN' RENA

We have some deal dope for you this week which, if the Brothers Marx delight you, will prove interesting. These four prize comedians are, as you in all probability know, appearing at the Albee theatre in Cincinnati. They are receiving $9,500 a week, the highest ever paid in that city.

On arriving in Cincinnati last Saturday at 2 a. m. they transported their knapsacks to the Netherland Plaza and, despite the fact that they had 4 performances the next day, they spent the rest of the night changing rooms. Four complete changes are reported to have been made.

In an interview they revealed some interesting inside info; Chico, who plays the piano, is really the oldest.

Groucho, usually considered the oldest, got his stage name in an odd way. All dyed-in-the-wool performers carry a grouch bag, a little bag, often around the neck, in which is sewed a tidy sum of money, usually about $100. It seems that a long time ago his brothers wanted some money with which to build a set for which Groucho didn't want to cough up the dough. He was the only one who had any coin and that was in his grouch bag. While he was asleep the others stole the money, bought the set, and because he raved so much about his grouch bag, started calling him "Groucho." He is the fastest, raucously speaking, of the lot. His chatter is constant, off-stage or on. Many of his off-stage cracks are, of course, unprintable.

The story usually given out by the brothers about Harpo's silence is that before he joined the act he was behind scenes during a performance and took a notion to run across the stage while the show was in progress. This so panicked the audience that the brothers decided that Harpo was a worthy addition to the company without speaking. The inside dope has the story thus. Harpo lipps. This necessitates the non-talking act. He is at present studying the saxophone. Chasing women around on the stage and such while other acts are going on is one of his favorite sports. Harpo, talking to others, can pull almost as many fast ones as Groucho.

Zeppo, who plays straight and very little of that, sings in the stage act and is really very clever. Nevertheless the others in the show gyp him on his salary every week.

The boys rarely give two shows alike. That is their form of amusement. They spend all their time thinking up cracks to use on themselves and other people.

The Albee theatre is doing extremely good business on the attraction.

Now to our real business. We feel it our duty to at least tell you what shows you may be able to coax your date into seeing in your company; that is if you're good. The remainder of this column is a necessary evil, for do you think we want the wrath of the theatre managers, of the editor-in-chief, called by the Deltas three, William (Lamebrain) Ardery, and the others concerned, to descend upon our bare head (no head gear in Depression)?

The Strand, starting Sunday this time, according to dope obtained from the manager's office, will present Lionel Barrymore, who incidentally is an extremely fine actor whose assignments in cinemas have been picked up lately. In "Guilty Hands" This is a murder story with a new twist in that you know all the time who committed the crime but are unable to discover any way in which he can be convicted.

"Rich Man's Folly" at the Kentucky Saturday. Is the story of a man who makes his ship building business his entire life until a series of unhappy events makes him see the truth. George Bancroft, the power man of the flickerdom is the star and Frances Dee, Robert Ames, and Juliette Compton head the supporting cast.

Across the silver sheet of Ben All will flash the image of Billie Dove. Saturday, in cinema entitled "The Age for Love." This is the old story of love vs. career and the husband who wants his wife to live his life and stay at home. The star is, in our estimation, one of the screen's finest examples of pulchritude.

in nature's way

CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FRESHNESS and flavor in a cigarette trace right back to natural moisture.

If you overheat or process tobacco so harshly as to dry out all natural moisture you drive out freshness and flavor too.

Camel never parches or toasts the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos it uses—they are naturally smooth, cool, mellow, with natural moisture retained.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack proves such a blessing to Camel smokers—it brings them a fine cigarette fresh to start with, and fresh to smoke.

If you don't realize what natural moisture means in genuine freshness and flavor, switch to Camels and see.

Try this mild, slow-burning, throat-friendly favorite for just one day—then leave it, if you can!

HONORARYGROUP HOLDS PLEDGING

Beta Gamma Sigma Commerce Scholarship Fraternity. Elects Jack Wert and Ben Stapleton, Seniors.

Two seniors in the College of Commerce were pledged to Beta Gamma Sigma honorary commerce scholarship fraternity at a meeting held by that organization Monday. These pledged are Jack Wert, Covington, and Ben Stapleton, Paintsville.

Admission to the honorary is based on scholarship requirements similar to those of Phi Beta Kappa, schools of business before a chapter honorary fraternity of the Arts and of Beta Gamma Sigma can be es-

Science College. Wert and Stapleton have the highest standing in the commerce school, according to the report issued.

Jack Wert is a member of Pan-Politikon, a lieutenant in the R. O. T. C., and a member of Phi Kappa Tau social fraternity.

Stapleton holds membership in Delta Sigma Pi, professional commerce fraternity, of which he is president. He also is vice-president of Alpha Delta Sigma, professional advertising fraternity, a lieutenant in the university R. O. T. C. and a member of Sigma Beta Xi social fraternity.

Beta Gamma Sigma has chapters in 33 universities and colleges throughout the country. A college or school of commerce must be recognized by membership in the association of American collegiate schools of business before a chapter honorary fraternity of the Arts and of Beta Gamma Sigma can be es-established. Present officers and members of the Kentucky chapter are Prof. R. D. McIntyre, president; Prof. L. H. Carter, secretary-treasurer; Dean Edward West, Prof. W. W. Jennings and Lloyd W. Averitt.

WE MAY BE WRONG BUT—

By TOTSU ROSE

The eyes of the football world will be turned southward tomorrow to watch the results of two of the greatest battles of the 1931 football season. The companionship of the Southern Conference and a mythical National Championship will be at stake when the Vanderbilt Commodores clash with the Tennessee Volunteers and the Green Wave of Tulane meets the Bulldogs of Georgia.

The outstanding game will be between Tulane and Georgia at Athens. Coach Mehre has sent out the word that he hopes to hold Tulane to a score of less than 25 points, this was the margin of victory last year when the Green Wave completely submerged the Bulldogs at New Orleans. Georgia will be keyed up to high pitch and should be able to give Tulane a great battle. Coach Bierman has his team in fine condition and is confident of a decisive win over the Bulldogs. We believe Georgia will come through with a hard earned victory although they will enter the contest as the underdogs. If Tulane is defeated it will be its first loss since 1928.

The Tennessee-Vanderbilt contest is one of those traditional battles that usually calls for as much fighting in the stadium as on the field. The Commodores have not won from the Volunteers since 1926 and nothing could please Dan McGuigan more than to upset Tennessee tomorrow. Major Neyland and his entire first team scouted the Vandy machine at Saturday and were surprised at the power of their opponents. This game appears to be a toss-up although on paper Tennessee seems to be at least two touchdowns better than Vanderbilt. Dope means nothing in games between these two rivals, but just to play safe we select the Volunteers.

Kentucky is favored to win from V. M. I., despite the fact that there seems to be "something in Denmark." The Cadets usually put up a fine battle against the Wildcats; the margin of victory may be surprising in this contest.

Florida is still all wet from their contact with the Crimson Tide last Saturday but should be able to snap back in the win column against South Carolina. The Gators are having one of the worst seasons since Charlie Bachman took command, but as yet we have heard no talk of firing him.

Wallace Wade should be able to drive his Duke Blue Devils to a victory over North Carolina State providing he is still carrying the same horse shoe that he used against Kentucky. Duke has a very good defensive team this year but their offense has been pitifully weak in every game this season.

Alabama has a set-up in Clemson, any team that meets the Tide from now on is in for a mighty tough afternoon. Coach Thomas has a team that is just a slight bit weaker than the champion "bone-crusher" that Wade developed last year at Alabama.

other licking, this time at the hands of Washington and Lee—believe it or not. The Generals have traveled a mighty rough road all season but at last it seems that Coach Dehart will win two games in a row.

Pennsylvania should be able to down Georgia Tech without using its first team. The Engineers have not won a game since October 3 and there is little hope of another victory until next year. However, Coach Alexander is expected to hold his job as head coach, rumblings from Kentucky have not gotten as far as Atlanta.

Our selections for the week follows:

To Win	To Lose
KENTUCKY	V. M. I.
Tennessee	Vanderbilt
Georgia	Tulane
Florida	South Carolina
Duke	N. Carolina State
Louisiana	Mississippi
V. P. I.	Virginia
Washington & Lee	Princeton
Pennsylvania	Georgia Tech
Auburn	Sewanee
Southwestern	Mississippi A & M
Alabama	Clemson

Seen From The Press Box

By VERNON D. ROOKS

Ballad Entitled, "Guess Who's Got the Mote In His Eye?"

Lexington has a lean and hungry look. Famine-stricken for a football championship. Uneasy and distressed for food of victory. Dripping at the jaws. Swallowing defeat. And choking on it. Panic stricken for want of which way to turn.

Like half-starved wolves, with gaping maws, on a meaty odor; like a drowning man clutching desperately at a straw, they take up the cry: Give us a team! Give us a coach! Give us an athletic council! Give us anything, but for the sake of our championship appetites, do it quick. Something is wrong! Everything is wrong! Why doesn't someone do something?

Their passion for a Southern Conference championship is admirable, but the discrepancies in the ends to which it leads them is deplorable. Never has there been a town so intent on a victorious football team, and never has there been such a lack of wisdom.

But inconsistencies in their fervor are quite noticeable. A victory for Kentucky brings no loud acclaim...only grunts of half-hearted approval, and wrinkled brows while trying to explain and alibi for the defeat of the opposition; loose talk about the weakness of the defeated. What difference the foe? A victory is a victory. Where, then, is this clamoring spirit for championship? Why not give the devil his due? Why not a little encouragement instead of hackneyed pessimism.

Self-styled supporters shout themselves hoarse about the wonderful material on hand at Kentucky. True, but is it the best in the South? Can you recall the one-sided scores of the Kentucky-Tennessee freshman games for the past three years? Do you know that Alabama had 25 more men on the bench when Kentucky played there this year than Kentucky had out for practice at the beginning of the season? Do you know that Georgia's traveling squad (always the cream of any coach's material) is greater than the entire Kentucky squad? Do you know that many coaches in the South have been working a great many more years than Gamage for a championship and haven't had as much as a glimpse?

It is the tendency of the person and of the mass to oppose that of which they are ignorant. And few people know Gamage intimately. His mistake has been in devoting his entire time, his thoughts, and his heart to developing a winning team for Kentucky. Unless a football coach has an established reputation, he must grandstand for the public. He must enter to their motion picture complex of glorification. And Gamage has buried himself in his football squad.

Coach Gamage's greatest sin is that he is not colorful enough; that he is too reserved in bringing himself into the limelight. Those having their pet grievances against the university have capitalized upon his silence. It is upon his head they have poured their abuse. And he has chosen to maintain the dignity of the university by declining controversy.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we could just say, "Quick, Henry, the Fiat!" and rid ourselves of chronic grumblers?

PROFESSORS TO MEET

The next meeting of the local Union of University Professors has been scheduled for 7:15 o'clock Monday night, November 16, in room 129 McVey hall. Prof. James W. Martin will be the principal speaker and Professors W. S. Webb and R. H. Clyde will open the discussion. Other business will include a summary report of the activities of the chapter for the last year and the selection of a chapter delegate to the national convention to be held in Chicago November 28 and 29.

November, No. 39 ARMISTICE DAY November 11

In observance of this day we honor the memory of heroes whose sacrifice bears witness that there is character in humanity, faith in men, courage in the world. Let us read again the names of those who died for the preservation of the American tradition of independence, of spirit, of thought, of action, as we review their deeds. May we acquire in our own hearts some part of their valor. May they live again in our renewal of courage.

"Eltime" is the electric clock that tells the time correctly, can be had in mahogany-blue and green colors and only costs you one dollar and forty nine cents...How's that for a bargain? The manufacturers of this clock guarantee it for one year.

Very recently we received a new shipment of hot water bottles that are made of real heavy rubber that assures you much service. These will make warm bed-fellows for any member of the family during the zero weather that is just around the corner...Get yours now and give Old Man Winter the Ha Ha.

"I liked Chesterfield right from the start"

"NO, I don't know a blessed thing about how cigarettes are made. But, of course, I would want the tobacco to be PURE. And then I've heard that the blending is very important. I'd want that to be done just right.

"Then the paper. I don't like paper that you can taste—or smell when it's burning. I'd want that pure too.

"Another thing. I want to smoke whenever I feel like it—without worrying about smoking too many. So I want my cigarettes MILD.

"But the main thing, of course, is TASTE. I don't care for over-sweetened cigarettes. I much prefer those that are just sweet enough.

"Chesterfield seems to satisfy in every one of these ways. That is why I'd rather have a Chesterfield."

SMOKERS tire of too much sweetness in a cigarette, and they don't like rawness. For a steady diet, they want a cigarette like CHESTERFIELD—a mild and mellow smoke, free from any over-sweetness or any harshness or bitterness. That's why more and more smokers every day are changing to CHESTERFIELD.

Good... they've got to be good.
